A next-generation talent attraction agency for cities and companies

Rising's mission is to help cities, people and tech companies to grow by creating meaningful relationships between them.

Our core services are talent attraction for cities, executive search for tech companies, and coaching and advisory for leaders. As industry needs change, we will partially automate our services to offer clients digital solutions.

The Rising Community is the hub for our global network. Our Community encourages conversations across borders, igniting ideas and forging relationships. While expanding our global network and automating our services, we are developing a unique platform that captures all aspects of Rising's multi-faceted community.

Our vision is a human-centric ecosystem for sustainable growth in a digital world.

— Rising offers talent attraction, executive search and advisory services that help cities, people and companies in the tech industry to grow

— Our future platform will serve as a home for our digital services and global community, as well as an integrated marketplace

— The founder's unique history and experience have built an unparalleled network and a vision that creates new opportunities
