SHARPIST OUTCOME-DRIVEN DIGITAL LEARNING PLATFORM FOR EMPLOYEE GROWTH

High engagement learning for the global workforce

Sharpist is a results-oriented, digital learning platform for professional employee development. Learners in organizations use a mobile app to meet their personal business coach from an international pool of more than 500 certified coaches. For ideal learning success, personal coaching is supplemented with personalized learning content from partners such as MIT Sloan Review, Blinkist or getAbstract. In this way, Sharpist enables companies to develop the full potential of their employees through scalable and digital learning. With this holistic development support for companies and employees, Sharpist opens a new chapter in the learning and development space and gives companies the opportunity to offer personnel development while saving costs and effort at the same time. Sharpist was founded in 2018 and now has 50 employees at its headquarters in Berlin. Customers include Porsche, Axel Springer, DHL and other large and medium-sized companies.

- Leadership development: Enable and empower people to own their growth and become leaders who drive strategic vision for your company
- Retention of top talent: Keep top employees engaged and focused through commitment to their personal development
- Digital transformation: Build resilient processes and frameworks by providing your workforce with the tools to successfully adapt during times of change
